In the Matter of the Commission Invest-) gation Into the Allocation of Abbreviated) Case No. 93-1799-TP-COI Dialing Arrangements, Such as N-1-1.)

ENTRY NUNC PRO TUNC

The Commission finds:

- (1) On June 21, 2001, the Commission issued a finding and order in this docket which, among other things, directed all telecommunications service providers under our jurisdiction to implement 7-1-1 access to telecommunications relay services (TRS) on an intrastate basis in Ohio, by October 1, 2001, in compliance with the requirements of the 7-1-1 Order issued by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC).¹
- (2) Within Finding (34) of our June 21, 2001 Finding and Order, we indicated that we would direct "all local service providers under our jurisdiction" to provide notice to their customers of the availability of 7-1-1 access to TRS in Ohio. Yet, in the ordering paragraph intended to implement this directive, through inadvertence, we mistakenly directed, instead, that "all telecommunications service providers under our jurisdiction" should be required to provide notice "in accordance with Finding (34)." We clarify, here, our original intention that local service providers only, rather than all telecommunications providers under our jurisdiction, should be directed to comply with the notice requirements enunciated within Finding (34) of our June 21, 2001 Finding and Order in this docket.

It is, therefore,

¹ See Second Report and Order on Reconsideration, FCC Docket 00-257, In the Matter of the Use of N11 Codes and Other Abbreviated Dialing Arrangements, CC Docket 92-105; released August 9, 2000.

ORDERED, That the sixth ordering paragraph of our June 21, 2001 Finding and Order in this docket is hereby revised, nunc pro tunc, in such a manner that the words "telecommunications service providers" as they appear in that ordering paragraph are deleted and replaced by the words "local service providers." It is, further, ORDERED, That a copy of this entry nunc pro tunc should be served on all of the same parties who were served with our June 21, 2001 Finding and Order in this docket.
